The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Terms such as "such as", "an appropriate degree of incomplete polymerization as characterized by its chemical properties", "may be" and "judged by chemical tests of the solubility in organic chelates selected from citrate, DTPA or EDTA" render the scope of the claims vague and indefinite. The recitation "selected from...or" and "selected from...and" is improper Markush terminology. In claim 15, it is indefinite as to what the formula would be for the fertilizer, since the claim recites that the magnesium and ammonium may be replaced, so it is not clear as to whether any magnesium or ammonium is required to be present.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Cox or Lyons et al. Cox and Lyons et al both disclose methods for preparing mixed cation polyphosphates by heating phosphoric acid in the presence of metal oxides and potassium carbonate, followed by neutralization of the resulting liquid polyphosphate. (See col. 4, line 23 to col. 6, line 27 of Lyons et al, and col. 4, line 7 to col. 7, line 25 of Cox.) The difference between the process and product disclosed by

Art Unit: 1793

Cox and Lyons et al, and that recited in applicant's claims, is that Cox and Lyons et al do not specifically disclose that the polyphosphate should be one of iron and manganese. It would be obvious to provide a polyphosphate of iron and manganese in the process and product of Lyons et al and Cox, since Lyons et al disclose at col. 4, lines 24-34 that iron and manganese are among the multivalent metal sources which may be employed, and Cox has a similar disclosure at col. 4, lines 7-30.
